

PRESENTATION

The aquatic bodies and water itself is the main road through which climate change influences ecosystems and thus affecting directly the livelihood and well-being of societies. Nowadays the water-related disasters are the most destructive among all natural disasters. The scientific approaches are helping concerned communities in shared river basins to jointly adapt to climate change, making them more resilient to disasters and water scarcity. This includes development of local and regional adaptation strategies.

The Organizers Faculty of Natural Sciences of University “A. Xhuvani” in cooperation with University of Salento Italy, Agricultural University of Tirana, Albanian University, JIEAS Turkey, and other institutions from Italy, Turkey, Czech Republic, Poland, Greece, Slovakia, North Macedonia, Serbia, Croatia, Kosovo, Bulgaria, etc. are pleased to announce the 4th Alblakes Conference, with international participation.
